

Uncle Harry is my favourite. When I see him he always pretends to be a rocket and picks me up and swirls me around! It makes my head dizzy which makes me feel silly which makes me giggle which makes me feel sick. One time I was sick and he got told off by Mummy but I don't think she was cross

It made me sad when he had to go live in America. He told me he would video me and he does but sometimes he can't talk too much because my cousins are running around and my aunty shouts him. Its rubbish but I have a brother and sister and my Mummy and Daddy sometimes have to chase us around. I get cross when they spoil our fun but sometimes when I am getting hurt I shout for them then they come and put us to different rooms. I think my Daddy misses his brother a lot. When I am sad and miss him, Daddy says he is sad too and that's when we video.

It must feel bad to be away from your brother for a long time. Mine makes me cross but I don't want him to go away. Only when he is making me cry but that doesn't happen a lot as I am much bigger and older.

My Daddy doesn't really go to proper work like my friends Daddy's. I am not sure what he does but I think it is very important. Sometimes he wears clothes with lots of colours and things coming off it. I like his shiny jewellery on his pocket. My Daddy said they are called medals and he got them for helping the United Kingdom.

On Thursday, Mummy was very sad and Daddy had to leave quickly. It was my great granny. She is getting really old. I can tell because she is getting smaller and more wrinkly like a tortoise. She still smiles a lot and smells like the purple sticks in my Mummy's garden. She gives really squishy hugs. When I asked why she was sad, my Mummy said that Great Granny had died. I know what died is because I had a hamster called Lemons and one day he didn't move. My Mummy said he had died. She said Hamsters don't live that long. I was cross because I said she should have told me that and I would have made sure Lemons did more fun things. My sister had a fish called Goldie and one day he was floating upside down in the water. Daddy got him out and put him into the toilet. He said he would go back to the sea. I wondered if Goldie will get to see Uncle Harry. I asked Uncle Harry and he said he would keep an eye out.

It makes me sad that I won't get to see Great Grannie anymore. It makes me sad that Mummy and Daddy are sad but it makes me happy that Uncle Harry gets to come back and he gets to swirl me around again.

When Daddy wasn't here, Mummy told me that Great Grannie was Queen of England. I wasn't sure if I believed Mummy but I know Mummy doesn't tell tales so it must be true. I double asked Daddy when he came back just to check as England will need to know she has died. He was sad. So I gave him a hug. I asked who was Queen now? Daddy said it was Grandad but he wouldn't be a Queen, he would be a King because he was a boy. He said that when Grandad died he would be king because he was Grandads son. This made me think hard. I asked Daddy when he died would I be King and he said yes. I asked if all Kings and Queens had to be wrinkly because Great Grannie and Grandad were both wrinkly and he laughed. It made me happy I made him smile when he was so sad. He said Mummy and Daddy would always be here to help me. I gave him a big hug as I know he doesn't have a Mummy. She died too. I didn't get to see her but I have seen pictures and she looks beautiful.

Mummy said the next days would be busy but that is OK as I am making a crown for Grandad, Daddy and me. I haven't told anyone. I am doing them in secret. Great Grannies crown was purple. I remember that from seeing it at her big house. I have made Grandads green, its his favourite colour. Daddy's is black like the car he likes the best and mine is blue like my favourite trainers. They make me run so fast. One time I was wearing them and I beat Daddy to the end of the garden! I found some purple stickers that look like jewellery like Daddy's medals, I put them on all of the crowns so they are like Great Grannies.

It is nice to talk about people who have died. Daddy says even if people have died, they are still here. I told my sister that and she didn't sleep in her bed for 8 days. Mummy was cross at Daddy. It didn't scare me. I know what Daddy meant. I talk to people who have died before I go to sleep. And Lemons and Goldie. They don't talk back. I wish Goldie did. I want to know if he made it to Uncle Harry. I know when Great Grannie is with me because I can smell those purple sticks that Mummy has.

I am happy everyone is together because it is fun and I get to play with everyone. Even though the grown-ups are sad. and England is sad. Mummy and Daddy said on Monday I can stay up after bed time with the grownups. I am very excited. I will finish my crowns and give them to Grandad and Daddy. Only we can all wear them though because we are the only ones that are going to be Kings.
